Prominent in Business.

In 1888 Dr. Patterson was elected president of the Richmond Tobacco Exchange, an association embracing the manufacturers, leaf dealers and all actively engaged in the tobacco trade. In 1888 he became a member of the Virginia Exposition executive committee, devoting much time to the exposition and placing there a unique exhibit from his factory.

In 1893 the Savings Bank of Richmond was organized, and Dr. Patterson was elected its first president, serving continuously until failing health forced his retirement from business.

Of his six surviving children, R. Fuller Patterson has retired from business; Archibald W. is an attorney at law in the Richmond bar; Malcolm C. has succeeded his father as president of the R. A. Patterson Tobacco Company, and since the recent reorganization of the tobacco industry he has also become one of the vice-presidents of the American Tobacco Company; James W. is also associated with the R. A. Patterson Tobacco Company while the youngest son, W. Pernet Patterson, is president of the Virginia Flower and Heater Company, and has acted in the interests of Dr. Patterson's tobacco business.

Dr. Patterson joined the Deep Run Baptist Church at the age of twenty, and later transferred his membership to the First Baptist Church of Richmond, where he was active on church committees and as a teacher in the Sunday school.

In recent years failing health had forced his retirement from all business life, and he had lived quietly at his home, "Reveille," engaged in beautifying the place, and surrounded by members of his family.

GOODLY CROWD WATCHES RACES

Old Dominion Motorcycle Club Holds Successful Meet—Jones Suffers Broken Arm.

A goodly crowd watched the motorcycle races at the Fair Grounds yesterday afternoon, and hundreds of children engaged in the Easter egg hunt. The races were marred by two spills, one resulting in a serious accident. Rider Jones of Norfolk, who suffered a broken arm, and was removed to one of the local hospitals, from which he was released after the broken member had been set. The other spill, though causing the discontinuance of the match race between Rivers of Richmond and Fawcett, of Norfolk, resulted in no damage being done to Rivers, who was unscathed.

The success of the meet yesterday has caused the Old Dominion Motorcycle Club, under whose auspices it was held, to start arrangements for a monster meet on July 4, in which riders from all over the South will compete. Valuable prizes will be offered and an extensive program arranged.

Despite the slow condition of the track yesterday, some fast time was made. The summary follows:

First event, 5-mile, novice—Fry, first; Smith, second; Jones, third.

Second event, 5-mile, four-hour power—Hines, first; Catlett, second; Time, 5:27.

Third event, 5-mile, seven-hour power—Fawcett, first; Rivers, second; Time, 5:55.

Fourth event—Match race between seven-hundred and five-hundred cc. machines, between Jones and Morrell, both of Norfolk. Called off on account of accident.

Fifth event, match race, 2 miles, between four-hundred and five-hundred cc. machines, between Fawcett and Rivers, both of Norfolk. Called off on account of accident.

Sixth event, 5-mile, four-hour power—Hines, first; Catlett, second; Time, 5:27.

SHOWS GOOD PROFIT

Georgia and Florida Railway Made Fine Record in March.

The latest March earnings in its history is reported by the Georgia and Florida Railway, in which month Richmond capital is invested. The earnings for the month ending March 31 were $32,250, an increase of $14,611 of 30 per cent. over March, 1911.

The company has recently put through a financial plan under which $100,000 of additional capital was secured. It will be applied to the further development of the line, which, it is expected, will under the stimulus of additional capital and increased rates of earnings. The management recently closed arrangements for the operation of an experimental farm and stock raising plant on the section of the line south of Augusta, with the object of stimulating immigration to the section of the State which it serves.

EXPERTS DISCUSS SOUTH'S PROBLEMS

Subjects Range From Danish Dairying to Storing of Flood Waters.

FIRST DAY'S SESSION

Maurice Egan Tells of Wealth Which Awaits American Farmers.

Nashville, Tenn., April 8.—Maurice Egan, United States minister to Denmark; Senator Francis G. Newlands, of Nevada; J. O. Wright, chief drainage engineer for Florida, and Herbert Myrick, of Springfield, Mass., were the speakers at a general meeting of the Southern Commercial Congress to-night, which concluded the first day of the three-day session of the congress.

"Danish Dairying" was the subject of Mr. Egan's address, in which he reviewed the marvelous development of dairies in Denmark, and pointed out the great wealth which awaits American farmers who adopt the same methods.

Senator Newlands advocated the appropriation of at least $50,000,000 a year for ten years by the general government to dam the rivers and store flood waters in such a manner as to prevent freshets and afford a constant flow of water throughout the year.

"The Mississippi flood," he said, "accentuates the agitation for big action regarding our waterways. The full regulation of our rivers can never be secured by mere channel dredging and levee protection. The whole river must be treated, from source to mouth, including all its tributaries, by preventing swift run-off of the storm waters through storage and diversion of flood waters, both natural and artificial."

"We must undertake the work in a big way—just as we did the Panama Canal and the irrigation works."

Herbert Myrick stated the Southern Commercial Congress has made certain that rural credit systems will be established which will enable small farmers to pool their interests and obtain the money necessary to finance their operations. He also said the congress would be instrumental in inaugurating farm loan associations, which will make land the basis for loans, which will be better investments than government securities.

J. O. Wright told of the manner in which Florida has tackled the drainage problem, and advocated similar activity by other States.

The waterways conference was also addressed by Herbert Knox Smith, Commissioner of Corporations.

The conference adopted resolutions providing that Congress shall be asked to provide for a survey of all districts in need of drainage. This resolution undoubtedly will be adopted by the Southern Commercial Congress. Governor Harmon, of Ohio, will be the chief speaker at a general session of the congress to-morrow night.

Gather for Drainage Congress.

New Orleans, April 8.—Delegates began to arrive to-day for the second annual convention of the National Drainage Congress, and by the time the first session is called to order Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock a large attendance is expected. The convention will be in session three days.

Among the early arrivals were Acting President Edmund F. Perkins and Frank B. Knight, member of the executive committee, both of Chicago. They will be joined by other officers of the organization to-morrow. The first meeting of the governing body is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon.

Many addresses by prominent reclamation engineers and others active in the campaign for drainage are on the program.

The first actual president of the congress will be elected at this convention. Among those spoken of for the position are United States Senator Fletcher, of Florida, ex-Governor David R. Francis, of Missouri; Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, and Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia.

Charlotte, S. C., so far is the only city to make a bid for the next convention.

water were obtained, but not in sufficient quantity to supply the needs of those marooned in the vicinity. River water was therefore strained and used as a last extremity until rescue came.

Scene Shifts to Lower River.

Vicksburg, Miss., April 8.—With the water at Greenville and other points topping the flood stage of 1903, the brunt of the battle against the Mississippi River flood is shifting to the lower river from Helena, Ark., south to-night. The first break, unimportant, however, occurred early to-night at Gules Bend, four miles south of Natchez. The levee which collapsed is a small auxiliary embankment, and does not affect the main levee system. The acreage which will be overflowed is small, and composed largely of wood-land.

Dispatches from Helena report the levees in the immediate vicinity of that city holding and no immediate apprehension is felt. The gaps in the levee at Mile Post 24, which went out yesterday, and in Lacombe Circle, sixty miles south of Helena, are reported widening rapidly. Practically the entire southern half of Phillips county and part of DeSha county is under water.

At Millers Bend, immediately south of Greenville, 500 convicts and 230 government laborers are at work toppling a low stretch of levee. Large forces are also at work near Dumas, Ark., and at Lake Providence, La. Lake Lee, Miss., is another point of danger.

Strong levees and bluffs, it is believed, will afford ample protection to the larger towns of Greenville, Vicksburg and Natchez.

Because of the urgency of the situation, it has been determined that the "emergency clause" of the eight-hour law might be invoked and government employees be working longer hours.

BEATEN THIS TIME, HE WILL TRY AGAIN

I. Rogers, who headed the negro delegates from Caddo Parish, declared his constituents would hold another mass-meeting upon his return and send a rival delegation to Chicago from the Fourth District of Louisiana instructed for Roosevelt.

Clarence S. Robert, deputy revenue collector for the port of New Orleans and manager of Taft's campaign in Louisiana, addressed the convention, reviewing the differences with the faction headed by Frank B. Williams, who is contesting the legality of the call for to-day's convention and its actions. Mr. Robert insisted that to-day's convention was local and the only Republican State convention to be held in Louisiana.
